Cost income ratio	40.1%	43.7%

Comments

- Personnel expenses – a major expense item – were flat in 2013
- Compared to 2012 savings came from rent and office maintenance and advertising and marketing costs
- Market makers fees growth was due to loyalty program launch to support T+2 migration
- Taxes other than income tax grew by 50% due to regulatory changes in VAT taxation
- Increase in expenses was partly due to one-off impairment of investment in associated companies (~RUB 110 mln) – in Ukrainian Exchange

Conclusion

- MOEX has delivered on strategic goals announced at IPO and created value for shareholders

- MOEX has successfully upgraded its infrastructure to international standards, which creates further upside potential
 - MOEX is now focused on organic growth built on the further development of its post-trade infrastructure
 - MOEX's diversified sources of revenue and integrated business model is resilient to the economic cycle
 - MOEX plans to expand into new assets classes, products and markets

- MOEX is a leading exchange globally and provides the comprehensive infrastructure for the Russian financial market
